

About me

My passion lies in writing, free software, and music. I am interested in investigative journalism, data and information design.

Born in 1994 in Dénia, Spain
Current residence: Barcelona

Education

- September 2012 - Currently
Studies Journalism and Law at Pompeu Fabra University.
- September 2010 - June 2012
Graduates in the institute "Historiador Chabás" of Dénia with honors.

Languages

- Spanish
Mother tongue
- Catalan
Mother tongue
- English
Proficiency level

Skills

- Advanced use of Indesign, Microsoft Word and Excel. Proficient with Wordpress, Blogger, Markdown and Git.
- Working knowledge of Windows and GNU/Linux.

Other qualifications and hobbies

- 2014
Creative Thinking Workshop organized by Google at Pompeu Fabra University.
Member of the Communication Team of KDE Spain, national association of KDE, Qt users and developers.
- 2013
Collaborates in the organization of data journalism workshops at the CCCB (Barcelona Contemporary Culture Center), on the behalf of the Open Knowledge Foundation.
Data journalism workshop organized by the Open Knowledge Foundation.
Software packager for "The Chakra Project" GNU/Linux distro. Involved in the community.
Volunteer at ÑH10, annual meeting of the Spanish chapter of the SND (Society for News Design).
Volunteer at MoodleMot 2013, national meeting of the Moodle e-learning platform.
- 2012
Football Broadcasting course organized by Pompeu Fabra University, held by Ernest Amat.
Intensive course of English in Lleida, organized by the Ministry of Education.
Translator of various free software projects: English-Spanish, English-Catalan (AppSet, OpenIntents, Tomahawk).
- 2011
Participates in Google Code-In, collaborates in several free software initiatives doing GNU/Linux packaging, translations and documentation (The Perl Foundation, SymPy, OpenIntents, KDE).
- 2002 - 2011
Studies Classical Spanish Guitar at the Professional Conservatory of Music "Tenor Cortis" of Dénia.